1. Introduction

The First Home Owner Grant (FHOG) scheme assists first home buyers with home ownership. In the Northern Territory, the scheme is administered by the Commissioner of Territory Revenue (the Commissioner) through the Territory Revenue Office (TRO).

From 1 October 2024 until 30 September 2027 the FHOG is $50,000 for new homes, and from 1 October 2024 until 30 September 2025 the FHOG is $10,000 for established homes.

This guide explains the eligibility criteria for the FHOG, requirements for lodging applications, obligations of applicants and related matters. If you are unsure about any aspect concerning your eligibility, it is important that you contact TRO for clarification before proceeding with your application.

Reference is made in this guide to guidelines issued by the Commissioner. Commissioner's Guidelines can be accessed from TRO's website www.revenue.nt.gov.au.

2. Explanation of key terms used

The following key terms appear in colour throughout the guide and application form.

Applicant(s)

A person applying for a FHOG who, on completion of the purchase or construction of a new home, will own or hold a relevant interest in the land on which the home is built.

Approved agent

An agent approved by TRO that is authorised to process applications for the FHOG. This includes most financial institutions.

Commencement date of the eligible transaction

The date of the contract of sale to purchase or contract to build a home or, for an owner builder, the date the laying of the foundations commenced.

Commissioner

Commissioner of Territory Revenue.

Completion date of the eligible transaction

When the applicant is entitled to possession of the home under the contract and the applicant is registered on the title, or the building is ready for occupation as a place of residence and any prescribed completion requirements are met.

Consideration

Purchase price or construction cost of the home including any GST payable on the transaction.

Contract of sale

An agreement between an owner of a home and a buyer, for an agreed consideration.

Contract to build

A comprehensive building contract where a builder agrees to build a home from the time the building starts to when it is finished and ready for occupation.

De facto partner

Persons, including same sex partners, who are in a marriage-like relationship. For further information on the meaning of 'de facto relationships' and factors considered to determine the existence of one, refer to Commissioner's Guideline CG-HI-004.

Eligible transaction

A contract of sale to purchase a home, contract to build a home, or construction of a home as an owner builder.

Established home

A home that has been previously sold or occupied, and is lawfully fit for occupation.

FHOG

First Home Owner Grant

Home

A building, affixed to land, that may be lawfully used, and is suitable for use as a place of residence. For further information on whether a building qualifies as a home, refer to Commissioner's Guideline CG-HI-006.

New home

The home must have never been previously lived in or sold as a place of residence. If you are claiming the FHOG on the purchase of a new home, your application must be accompanied by a completed Vendor declaration (F-HI-025 for both individual and company vendors).

A demountable or transportable dwelling can be considered a new home for the purposes of FHOG if it meets the above definition, regardless of whether it has been or will be moved to a new location. Buyers of a demountable or transportable dwelling will be deemed an owner builder for the purposes of the FHOG.

A discretion applies in limited circumstances to declare a home that has been previously sold, but not occupied, to be a new home. For further information on this discretion, refer to Commissioner's Guideline CG-HI-011.

A substantially renovated home may be considered a new home.

Off the plan

The acquisition of a new home on a proposed lot on a plan of subdivision, whether the plan of subdivision is registered or not.

Owner builder

An owner of land who builds a home, or has a home built on the land, without entering into a contract to build.

A person is also taken to be an owner builder where they purchase a building (such as a demountable or transportable dwelling) and intend to use the building as a place of residence on land in which they have a relevant interest, but on which the building is not situated at the time of purchase.

Permanent resident

A person who holds a permanent residency visa (under section 30 of the Migration Act 1958 of the Commonwealth) or a New Zealand citizen who is the holder of a special category visa (under section 32 of the Migration Act 1958).

Principal place of residence

The home you primarily reside in. The most important characteristic of a person's principal place of residence is that the person is living in that residence on an ongoing or permanent basis as the person's settled or usual place of abode. Where the occupation is transient, temporary or of a passing nature, or the occupation is for some other purpose, such as for renovating the home for sale or prior to rental, then this is not sufficient to establish occupation as a principal place of residence. For further information, refer to Commissioner's Guideline CG-HI-005.

Related or associated party

A person is related or associated with another party when:

- one is the spouse or de facto partner of the other
- they are related by blood, marriage or adoption
- they are a shareholder or director of the other party
- they are a beneficiary of a trust for which the other party is trustee
- or the transaction is not otherwise at arm's length. (A transaction is generally considered to be at arm's length when it is between independent and unrelated persons, conducted on an equal footing in which each act in their own self-interest).

Relevant interest

A person with a relevant interest is someone who will have a legal entitlement to occupy the land. Usually this will be the person registered on the title to the land. This commonly is an estate in fee simple. A relevant interest does not include an interest held subject to a trust.

In the Territory, other relevant interests include:

- various leaseholding interests in land granted by the Commonwealth or the Territory
- an interest as purchaser under a terms contract
- a licence or a right of occupancy granted by the Commonwealth or the Territory that gives the licensee, or holder of the right, reasonable security of tenure
- a life estate in land approved by the Commissioner
- a right to occupy a home that you have built (or will build) on land owned by a relative
- a right to occupy a home that you have built (or will build) on farming property where the owner of that property has given you permission to occupy the home
- and a lease or sublease granted under section 19 or 19A of the Aboriginal Land Rights (Northern Territory) Act 1976 (Cth) for a term of 15 years or older.

A relevant interest in land in another state or territory is defined in that jurisdiction's corresponding legislation, but generally includes most of the above.

Residential property

Land in Australia on which there is a building that can be lawfully occupied as a place of residence and is suitable for occupation as a place of residence. It includes any land on which there is a residence such as a farming property or commercial property.

Spouse

The person to whom an applicant is legally married. Despite separation, parties to a marriage remain spouses until the marriage is legally dissolved. Separated spouses may remain eligible for the FHOG (see Section 4 of this guide for further details).

Substantially renovated home

A home is a substantially renovated home if:

- the sale is a taxable supply of new residential premises within the meaning of section 40-75(1)(b) of the A New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Act 1999 (Cth)
- and the home has not been previously occupied or sold as a residence since the renovation.

'Substantial renovations' of a building are defined as renovations that affect the building as a whole, and in which all, or substantially all, of a building is removed or replaced. The renovations may, but need not, involve the removal or replacement of foundations, external walls, interior supporting walls, floors, roof or staircases. Merely renovating part of a house, such as the bathroom and kitchen, is not sufficient to constitute 'substantial renovations' even if it involves structural changes as it does not affect the building as a whole. For further information refer to Commissioner's Guideline CG-HI-011.

Terms contract

A contract of sale of land where the purchaser must make two (2) or more payments (excluding the deposit) to the vendor after the contract is signed by the parties. Generally, the purchaser will be in possession of the land under the contract, but cannot be registered on the title until final payment is made to the vendor.

TRO

Territory Revenue Office.

Unencumbered value

Of a home or relevant interest in land, is the full value of the home or interest (without regard to encumbrances) and includes the amount of any GST payable in relation to the supply of the home or relevant interest in land. It also includes a debt or liability that might give rise to a right of recourse against the property such as a mortgage.

3. Eligibility criteria

To apply for the FHOG:

Applicants must:

- lodge a completed application and all supporting documents within 12 months of the completion date of the eligible transaction
- be a natural person (not a company or trustee) and at least one of the applicants must be 18 years of age or older at the commencement date of the eligible transaction
- ensure at least one applicant is an Australian citizen or a permanent resident at the time of completing the application
- have entered into an eligible transaction
- ensure each person holding a relevant interest in the home is an applicant.

Note: This does not include the owner of a farming property where the applicant has permission to build a home on that property, an owner of a property where permission has been given to a relative to build a home on that property or to a guardian that holds the land for a person with a legal disability.

Applicants and their spouses or de facto partners must:

- not have previously received a FHOG in any state or territory of Australia. If the FHOG was received, but later paid back together with any penalty, they may be entitled to reapply for the grant
- not have previously owned or held a relevant interest in a residential property anywhere in Australia prior to 1 July 2000, even if they did not occupy the property as their place of residence
- not have occupied a residential property in which they owned or acquired a relevant interest in on or after 1 July 2000 anywhere in Australia.

4. Commissioner's discretion to vary eligibility criteria

The Commissioner may vary eligibility criteria relating to:

- the 18 years minimum age requirement (see Commissioner's Guideline CG-HI-003)
- the residence requirements (refer to Section 9 of this Guide)
- and the eligibility of separated spouses (refer to Commissioner's Guideline CG-HI-008).

The Commissioner also has the discretion to declare a home that has been previously sold, but not occupied, to be a new home (refer to Commissioner's Guideline CG-HI-011).

5. How to lodge your application

Applications may be lodged with:

- the approved agent that is providing your finance. Most financial institutions are approved agents. If you require the FHOG for settlement, you must lodge the application with your financial institution as soon as possible.
- TRO – refer to contact details at Section 14 of this guide.

Note: Applications must be lodged directly with TRO where the eligible transaction is the result of:

- a purchase or transfer from a deceased estate and the deceased is related to one or more of the applicants or an applicant is a beneficiary under the will of the deceased person
- or a purchase or transfer pursuant to orders made in proceedings under the Family Law Act 1975 (Cth) and an applicant is a party to those proceedings.

6. Supporting information

The information required in support of your application is detailed in the checklist at Section 8 of the application form and will vary depending on the transaction type and your circumstances. This information is needed to determine your eligibility for the FHOG and failure to provide part, or all of the information, will result in delays in processing, or rejection of, your application. Please check each item and place a tick in the appropriate column to ensure all information is provided.

7. Amount of the FHOG

If the commencement date of the eligible transaction is on or after 7 May 2019 but on or before 30 September 2024, the amount of the FHOG is the lesser of the consideration actually paid for the eligible transaction or $10 000 if the home is a new home.

If the commencement date of the eligible transaction is on or after 1 October 2024 but on or before 30 September 2025, the amount of the FHOG is the lesser of the consideration actually paid for the eligible transaction or

- a) $50 000 if the home is a new home
- b) $10 000 if the home is an established home

If the commencement date of the eligible transaction is on or after 1 October 2025 but on or before 30 September 2027, the amount of the FHOG is the lesser of the consideration actually paid for the eligible transaction or $50 000 if the home is a new home.

8. When the FHOG will be paid

The date the FHOG is paid depends on whether you are buying or building a home, and if you are applying through an approved agent or TRO. The following table details the various scenarios.

Type of transaction	Applying through
	Approved Agent	TRO
Purchasing a home	The grant will be paid to your lender once you have been found eligible.	When your name is registered on the title.
Purchasing a home under a terms contract	Not applicable.	When you are in possession of the property and instalments (excluding the deposit) of at least the amount of the FHOG have been paid.
Contract to build a home	The grant will be paid to your lender once you have been found eligible	When the foundations have been laid and progress payments (excluding the deposit) of at least the amount of the FHOG has been paid.
Owner builder	When construction of the home has been completed.	When construction of the home has been completed.

Where the application is lodged with an approved agent, the agent pays the FHOG. When it is lodged with TRO, payment will be made by electronic funds transfer to your nominated bank account, generally within 5 business days of receiving a complete application and all supporting documentation.

9. Residence requirements

At least one applicant must commence occupation of the home as their principal place of residence for a continuous period of not less than 12 months within 12 months of the completion date of the eligible transaction. Where a home is purchased subject to an existing lease, the 12-month period commences on the expiry of the lease providing that occurs within 12 months of the applicant becoming the owner of the property. For further details on the implications of purchasing a home subject to an existing lease, refer to Commissioner's Guideline CG-HI-010.

If the residence requirements are not satisfied, the applicants are required to notify TRO and may be required to repay the amount of the FHOG (see Section 10 of this Guide).

In special circumstances, the residence requirements may be varied by the Commissioner as follows:

- the applicants may be exempted from the residence requirements
- the period for commencing occupation of the home or for taking possession of the home after the completion date of the eligible transaction may be extended
- and the 12-month period for continuous occupation of the home may be reduced.

For further information, refer to Commissioner's Guideline CG-HI-003.

10. Notifiable events and obligation to repay the FHOG

In the following circumstances and timeframes, applicants are required to notify TRO in writing and repay the amount of the FHOG.

Event	Timeframe for notification and repayment of the FHOG
Failure to comply with the residence requirements (refer to Section 9 of this Guide).	Within 30 days of the earlier of the date: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> by which the applicants were required to have taken occupation of the home or on which it first became apparent that they would not comply with the residence requirements during the period allowed for compliance.
Ineligibility for the FHOG (i.e. the applicant or their spouse/de facto partner may have previously owned a residential property that they occupied, or none of the applicants are an Australian citizen or permanent resident etc.).	Within 30 days after the FHOG was paid.
Failure to comply with a condition for payment of the FHOG.	Within 30 days after the breach of that condition.
Overpayment of the FHOG.	Within 30 days after the FHOG was paid.
Warning: Failure to comply with the above requirements is an offence for which a maximum penalty of 50 penalty units is provided (the value of one penalty unit is $185 as at October 2024). A penalty equal to the FHOG and interest may also be imposed by TRO. For further details on penalty and interest refer to Commissioner's Guideline CG-HI-002 .

11. Compliance investigations

TRO undertakes compliance activities to confirm an applicant is eligible for the FHOG and satisfies the residence requirements.

Enquiries concerning an applicant's eligibility may be made by TRO prior to, and after the payment of the FHOG and may include searches of land title systems in other jurisdictions and accessing information from various sources. Applicants may also be requested to provide further supporting information.

Significant penalties and prosecution action may apply if these enquiries demonstrate that an applicant has made a false application or has not complied with the residence requirements.

12. False applications and penalties

Applicants found guilty of making a false application or declaration may be prosecuted and could face imprisonment for a period of up to two (2) years.

13. Other home owner assistance

The Territory Government has a number of schemes to assist home ownership, including loans for low to middle income earners. Further information on these schemes can be accessed on TRO's website at nt.gov.au/property/home-owner-assistance.
